What is Dragonz Central?

Dragonz Central is the official website of DRZ (the Dragonz), a GTA roleplay crew. Think of it as the crew's home on the internet: one place where anyone can meet every member, see who is streaming right now, watch their videos, follow news and events, and join in with the community.

It works on its own. Once a member's YouTube or Kick channel is added, the website keeps checking those channels by itself and updates live status, videos and follower counts without anyone doing it by hand.

> In one sentence
> Visitors discover the crew, fans take part (vote, comment, earn points, apply to join), crew members get rewarded for streaming, and admins run everything from a private control panel.

Who is this guide for?

If you are…	Read	You will learn
A visitor (no account)	Part 1	What every page on the website shows
A fan (with a free account)	Part 2	Your account, the Fan Zone, points, badges and how to apply to the crew
A crew member / streamer	Part 3	How Featured crew works and how to earn your spot every week
An admin or moderator	Part 4	Every page of the control panel and how to do common jobs
Curious how it works	Part 5	What happens behind the scenes, in simple words
Anyone	Part 6	What the site can't do, a to-do list, and a glossary of terms

Four kinds of people use the site

Who	What they can do
Visitor	Browse every public page: members, live streams, videos, events, news, community posts, Hall of Fame.
Fan (signed in)	Everything a visitor can, plus: follow creators, get live alerts, vote in polls, react and comment, submit posts and quotes, earn XP and badges, apply to join the crew.
Crew member	Appears on the site with a profile. Their streams are tracked automatically and count towards the weekly Featured crew goals. (A crew member can also have a normal fan account.)
Staff (Admin, Content Manager, Moderator)	Opens the Admin panel to add members, publish news and events, approve posts, run polls, review applications and change settings. Each role only sees the tools it is allowed to use.

PART 1

A tour of the website

This part walks through every page a visitor can open from the menu at the top of the site. No account is needed for any of these.

Home page

Where: the first page you land on

What you see: A big welcome banner with live crew numbers (members, creators, who is live now) and a scrolling strip of every member. Below it, the page is built from sections that update by themselves:

What you can do:

- Live now: cards for every crew creator streaming right now. Click to watch.
- Featured crew: the members who earned a spot this week by hitting the streaming goals (see Part 3), plus anyone an admin has pinned. A gold crown marks the Streamer of the Week.
- Featured videos: videos the admins have specially picked (starred).
- The Dragonz crew: every member with photo, role, a short bio and buttons to their YouTube and Kick.
- Announcements ("From the Boss's desk") and Upcoming events with a countdown.
- Hall of Fame highlights and creator milestones.
- Community showcase: the latest approved fan posts in a photo grid.
- Fan Zone: today's poll, the top fans, member birthdays and anniversaries, Clip of the Week and favourite quotes.
- A final banner inviting people to sign up, or to apply to the crew when recruitment is open.

Members

Where: menu → Members

What you see: A grid of every crew member. You can search by name and filter by role, creators only, platform, or who is live.

What you can do:

- Open any member to see their profile: photo, banner, role, RP character, biography, where to watch them, their latest and featured videos, achievements, milestones, community posts about them and their supporter badges.
- See their Crew goals box: how much they have streamed this week, their streak and their crew badges.
- Press Follow (needs a free account) to get alerts when they go live.

Live

Where: menu → Live (the red dot)

What you see: Every crew creator streaming right now on YouTube or Kick. The page refreshes itself every 30 seconds, so you never need to reload it.

What you can do:

- Click a card to open the stream.
- See Recently live: streams that just ended.
- See Crew grind this week: a ranking of which members have streamed the most this week.

Videos

Where: menu → Videos

What you see: All crew videos in one place. YouTube videos appear automatically as soon as they are uploaded. Videos starred by the admins are shown first.

What you can do:

- Filter by member or platform.
- Click to watch on YouTube (or Kick, for videos added by hand).

> Tip
> Kick past streams do not appear automatically, because Kick's official system does not share them. An admin can still add any Kick video by hand (see Part 4).

Events

Where: menu → Events

What you see: Upcoming crew events such as races, heists, tournaments and community nights, each with date, time and a live countdown.

What you can do:

- Press Remind me to get a reminder before it starts (needs an account).
- Add it to your own calendar (Google Calendar or a .ics file).
- Open the stream link when the event is live.
- React and comment on the event.

News

Where: menu → News

What you see: Official announcements from the crew: recruitment calls, updates, notices.

What you can do:

- Read the full post.
- React with emojis and leave a comment (needs an account).

Community

Where: menu → Community

What you see: The Community showcase: clips, screenshots, fan art, edits and memorable moments made by fans. Every post is checked by a moderator before it appears.

What you can do:

- Click a post to open it big, react and comment.
- Press Submit to share your own (needs an account).

Fan Zone

Where: menu → Fan Zone

What you see: The fun, interactive part of the site: polls, the Top Fans leaderboard, how points work, and links to Clip of the Week, the Quote Wall and Join the crew. Explained fully in Part 2.

Hall of Fame

Where: menu → Hall of Fame

What you see: The crew's proudest moments: achievements (wins, records, big RP moments) and creator milestones (for example, a channel reaching 10,000 subscribers).

Search

Where: the magnifying glass at the top

What you see: Search the whole site: members, videos, news, events.

PART 2

For fans: your account and the Fan Zone

A free account turns you from a visitor into a part of the community. Here is everything an account unlocks.

Creating your account

1. Press Join Dragonz Central at the top right.
2. Enter a display name, email and password.
3. Open the email we send you and click the link to verify your email. Some features (comments, submitting quotes, applying to the crew, email alerts) only work after this. If the email did not arrive, use Resend email on your Dashboard and check your spam folder.

Your Dashboard

Your personal home page (click your name → Dashboard). It shows:

- Your favourite creators (the ones you follow), with live ones at the top.
- Who is live now and recent videos.
- Your notifications: live alerts, badges earned, replies from the crew.
- Upcoming events and announcements.
- Your Fan level: XP, level, streak and badges.
- The status of your crew application, if you sent one.

Settings

- Change your display name and profile photo.
- Notifications: choose in-app live alerts, emails when creators go live, event reminders and announcement emails.
- Fan Zone: choose whether you appear on the Top Fans leaderboard.
- Supporter badges, change password, sign out of all devices, or delete your account.

Following creators and live alerts

On any creator's profile, press Follow. When they go live, you get an alert on the site, and an email too if you switched that on. Emails are limited to one per creator every 3 hours, so you will never be spammed.

XP, levels and badges

Almost everything you do earns XP (experience points). XP raises your level and appears on the leaderboard. Each action pays only once (for example, unfollowing and following again pays nothing), and some have a daily limit, so nobody can cheat their way up.

Action	XP	Notes
Visit the site (daily check-in)	+5	Once a day. A small pop-up confirms it.
Every 7-day visit streak	+25	Visit 7 days in a row.
Verify your email	+20	Once.
Follow a creator	+10	Once per creator.
Vote in a poll	+5	Once per poll.
Vote for Clip of the Week	+5	Once per week.
React to a post	+1	Up to 20 a day.
Write a comment	+3	Up to 10 a day.
Your showcase post is approved	+25
Your quote is added to the Quote Wall	+15
Your clip wins Clip of the Week	+100
Send a crew application	+10

Levels

Level	XP needed	Level	XP needed
1. Hatchling	0	6. Dragon	1,000
2. Whelp	50	7. Elder Dragon	1,600
3. Drake	150	8. Ancient Dragon	2,500
4. Wyvern	300	9. Dragon Lord	4,000

Polls & predictions

The crew asks questions like "Who wins Friday's race?". Pick an answer to vote. To keep things fair, the results stay hidden until you vote (or until the poll closes). One vote per person.

Top Fans leaderboard

Shows the fans with the most XP. Only your display name, photo, level and badges are shown, never your email. Prefer to stay hidden? Switch it off in Settings → Fan Zone. You keep earning XP either way.

Clip of the Week

Every approved community clip, edit or moment from the last 60 days is in the running. You get one vote per week and can change it any time before the week ends (Sunday night, India time). On Monday the clip with the most votes wins automatically: it gets featured, and its creator receives +100 XP and the Clip Champion badge.

Quote Wall

Funny, savage or legendary lines from crew streams. Press Add a quote, type it exactly as it was said, and optionally pick who said it, their character name and the moment. A moderator reviews it first. If it is approved you get a notification and +15 XP. Everyone can react to quotes.

Reactions and comments

News posts, events, community posts and quotes all have five reactions (fire, love, haha, wow, dragon) and a comment section. Click a reaction again to remove it. You can delete your own comments. Moderators can hide comments that break the rules.

Join the crew (recruitment)

When the crew is recruiting, the Join the crew page opens an application form:

1. Make sure your email is verified.
2. Fill in your RP character name, Discord username, your RP experience and why you want to join DRZ (optionally your availability and a clip of your RP).
3. Confirm you are 18 or older and send it.
4. Track it on the same page: Received → In review → Accepted / Not this time. You get a notification and an email when the crew decides, often with a personal message.

Good to know

You can only have one application open at a time, and you can withdraw it.

If it is not accepted, you can apply again after 30 days.

When recruitment is closed, the page says so. Check the announcements for when it reopens.

PART 3

For crew members: Featured crew

The Featured crew section on the home page is not a fixed list. It is earned every week by streaming. This part explains exactly how.

How it works

1. Your YouTube and Kick channels are linked to your member profile by an admin.
2. Whenever you go live, the website notices by itself and records when you started and stopped.
3. Each week (Monday 12:00 am to Sunday 11:59 pm, India time) your streams are added up.
4. Hit all the weekly goals set by the admins, and you appear in Featured crew on the home page, for this week and the following week.

What is counted

Measure	What it means
Streams	How many separate streams you did this week.
Hours	Total time streamed this week.
Days	On how many different days you streamed (so one giant marathon does not count as consistency).
Uploads	New videos uploaded this week (only if the admins turn this goal on). Replays of streams do not count.

Fair-play rules

Multistreaming counts once. Streaming on YouTube and Kick at the same time is one stream, not two.

Very short streams do not count. Anything shorter than the minimum length (set by admins, e.g. 30–60 minutes) is ignored.

Accurate times. For YouTube, the exact start and end time is taken from YouTube itself, so hours are correct even if the website was briefly offline.

Rewards

- Featured crew spot on the home page.
- Streamer of the Week (crown): the best score of last week among members who hit the goals. Score = 10 per hour + 5 per stream + 5 per day + 8 per upload + 10 per streak week.
- Streak (flame): how many weeks in a row you have hit the goals.

- Crew badges: Iron Streak (goals hit 4 weeks in a row), 50 Hours Club and 100 Hours Club (hours in the last 3 months), Marathon (one stream of 6+ hours), Night Owl (3+ streams started after midnight).
- A place in the Crew grind this week ranking on the Live page.

Tracking your progress

Open your own profile on the site. The Crew goals box shows progress bars for each goal (for example "14h / 20h"), how much time is left in the week, your streak, a chart of your last 8 weeks and your badges. (Admins can choose to hide these numbers publicly.)

> Pinned members
> Admins can pin a member so they always appear in Featured crew, even without hitting the goals, and can exclude a member from being featured automatically.

PART 4

For admins: the control panel

Staff open the control panel from their name menu → Admin panel. Each role only sees the pages it is allowed to use.

Super Admin	Everything, including changing other people's roles.

3. The home page shows them automatically in the 7 days before.

PART 5

Behind the scenes (in simple words)

You do not need this part to use the site, but it helps to understand why things happen the way they do.

Piece	What it does
YouTube connection	Uses YouTube's official system to fetch new videos, who is live, subscriber counts and channel photos. It stays within YouTube's free daily limit.
Kick connection	Uses Kick's official system to check who is live and follower counts. With webhooks switched on, Kick tells the site the second someone goes live.
Automatic checking	Every few minutes the site checks all channels and updates live status, videos, crew hours and reminders. It also picks the Clip of the Week winner each Monday.
Wake-up ping	The free hosting "falls asleep" when nobody visits. A free service (cron-job.org) pings the site every few minutes so checking never stops. This is important for accurate crew hours.
Emails	Sent through Brevo: email verification, password reset, live alerts, event reminders and application updates.
Images	Uploaded photos are stored safely in Supabase storage.
Hosting (all free plans)	Render runs the website, Neon stores the database, Supabase stores images, Brevo sends email. Code is kept on GitHub; every push updates the live site automatically.

Safety and privacy

- Passwords are never stored in readable form (they are securely hashed).
- Every admin action is permission-checked on the server, not just hidden in the menu.
- Protection against fake form submissions, spam (rate limits) and people trying to edit other people's data.
- Public pages never show fans' emails. The leaderboard shows only display name, photo, level and badges.
- Only official YouTube and Kick systems are used. Nothing is scraped.
- Kick live alerts are checked against Kick's official signature, so nobody can fake a "went live" message.
- Every important admin change is recorded in the Audit log.

PART 6

Limits, to-do list and glossary

What the site cannot do (and why)

Not possible	Why	What to do instead
Show Kick past streams automatically	Kick's official system does not share past videos.	Add Kick videos by hand in Admin → Videos. An automatic "Past Kick streams" list is possible as a future upgrade.
Show who paid for a YouTube channel membership	YouTube keeps membership lists private; each channel owner would have to connect their own account, and Google must approve it.	Put on hold for now. Supporter badges can be used instead.
Custom web address (like drzcentral.in)	Needs a purchased domain name.	Possible later; Render supports it for free once you own a domain.

Admin to-do list

Task	Why it matters
Set up the cron-job.org ping (every 5 minutes)	Keeps live alerts, reminders and crew hours accurate while the free server sleeps.
Refresh the Brevo email key	Security. Create a new key in Brevo, paste it into Render, delete the old one.
Set realistic crew goals (6 / 20h / 5 days)	With every-day goals nobody qualifies and Featured crew stays empty.
Add taglines, proper photos, birthdays and join dates	Makes cards, profiles and celebrations look complete.
Post news, events and a first poll	Those home page sections are empty until you do.
Press "Subscribe Kick channels to webhooks" after adding a Kick creator	Instant live alerts for that channel.
